1	I can work effectively with people who have different personalities, opinions, and work styles.
2	I can balance my academic responsibilities and publication work as part of my extracurricular commitments.
3	I am willing to learn new skills and take on responsibilities beyond my area of expertise when needed.
4	I can complete assigned tasks on time even when faced with multiple deadlines.
5	I remain professional and respectful when receiving criticism, corrections, or feedback.
6	I am willing to contribute to publication activities even when there are no contests, incentives, or recognition involved.
7	I can communicate concerns, ideas, and suggestions openly and constructively with my teammates.

8	I take initiative and do not wait to be constantly reminded before accomplishing my responsibilities.
9	I am willing to make reasonable sacrifices in my time and comfort to fulfill my commitments to the publication.
10	I am committed to continuously improving as a student journalist, artist, broadcaster, or multimedia practitioner.

Reflection Question:
In two to three sentences, describe one personal strength and one area for improvement that may affect your performance as a member of The MLUC Voice.

V. PRELIMINARY SCREENING QUESTIONS

Please answer the question corresponding to your preferred field.

For Writers:
Campus journalism is more than writing articles—it is also about serving the student body. How can a student journalist produce content that is both relevant and meaningful to students?

For Illustrators and Photojournalists:
Visuals often communicate messages more powerfully than words. How do you ensure that your artwork or photographs tell a story while remaining ethical, accurate, and impactful?

For Graphic Artists and Layout Artists:
A publication's design influences how readers consume information. In your opinion, what makes a publication layout effective, and how should creativity be balanced with readability and clarity?

For Broadcasters and Multimedia Producers:
In an age where information spreads rapidly through digital media, what qualities should a responsible broadcaster or multimedia journalist possess, and why?

VI. COMMITMENT STATEMENT

Explain why you want to join The MLUC Voice and what you can contribute to the publication.

Why do you want to become a member of The MLUC Voice, and what can you contribute to the publication?

I hereby certify that the information provided in this application form is true and correct to the best of my knowledge. I understand that membership in The MLUC Voice requires commitment, professionalism, active participation, and adherence to the principles of responsible journalism and ethical conduct.
